HOME CABBAGE IS NEW ON MARKETS

Peaches From California and Cantaloupes From Same State are Being Received.

ASPARAGUS PRACTICALLY GONE

Spinach is Becoming Scarce Also, But Dealers Say There is a Large Demand for Strawberries.

Home grown vegetables are ruling in Rock Island markets. The latest of the home produce to make its debut and bid for the favor of the good housewives is cabbage. Cabbage will be received from local fields this week. It will sell at 5 and 10 cents a head. California cabbage has been sold here for weeks and has been of good quality. It retailed at 5 to 7 cents a pound. The new home grown variety will not be very solid at first but as the season progresses this defect will be eliminated.

Home grown turnips and home grown beets are coming on the markets this week. Each will be two bunches for a nickel and dealers are predicting the supply will be abundant.

Lovers of peaches will hail the news of the receipt of this fruit from California. Peaches are being shipped in from the golden state and are going over the counter at 30 cents a dozen. Dealers say that they are of good quality. They will remain rather high-priced, however, until the California peaches are replaced with those from Texas orchards.

The cantaloupe is also a new favorite this week. It is being shipped from California and will soon be received in plentiful quantities. Cantaloupes sell for 15 and 20 cents apiece.

Asparagus and spinach are slipping away. Practically no asparagus remains on the market. Spinach is very scarce, dealers say. They predict in another week it will be entirely off the market.

Berries Popular.
Strawberries continue popular with patrons of the local markets. Dealers say that there have been few seasons in which the demand for berries has been so great. The home grown variety came on the market this week. Shipped berries are giving way to the home product.
